Coldigioco 2013 -- Where students came to learn the secrets of the Apennines

Dear Friends of Coldigioco,

This was another year of geological, educational, and artistic activity at Coldigioco. There were five geological field courses by US and European universities (ACM, Columbia University, Penn State University, Göttingen University, University of Padua), in addition to numerous visits by researchers, artists, and scholars.

Thanks to your kind donations to Le Montagne di San Francesco (LMDSF), we were able to make significant renovations to Margolis Hall, including the lecture/dining hall, the kitchen, and the food storage room.

With the frequent use of our facilities for over 20 years, we need support to upgrade the infrastructure of Coldigioco. You can help by donating to LMDSF. We are working with Charities Aid Foundation America (CAF America), an independent US 501(c)(3) public charity whose mission is to increase the flow of charitable funds outside the US. Donations of 500 USD and over are tax deductible for US taxpayers.

How can I support Coldigioco as it continues its mission of education and research?
